

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus for providing an improved Internet camera is described. The method comprises capturing an image and determining if the image has changed. If the image has changed, sending the image to a server, and 5 if the image has not changed with a period, sending a heartbeat to indicate continued functionality of the camera.